BE OUR FRIEND

Would you like to be our friend? Do you feel you would like to do some small amounts of community service with out the burden of being tied down to an organization? Are you needing a few hours a month out of your house, with or without your kids? Are you ready to expand your ring of friends? Then we are just what you need. We are called the "friends" of the Warren Library. We are conducting our annual membership drive and would be excited if you could join us. The "friends" are a great bunch of people that are focused on the needs of the Warren Library. The friends help fund the summer reading programs for the young and are very interested in developing more programs for the young at heart. Some goals for our group is to bring more interest to the library and to bring more attention to the resources available within. Meetings will be held monthly or bi-monthly and will only last about 2 hours in the evening. Our yearly book sale is a big hit with the community and is our money making project. Dues are paid annually for the friends, which are $1.00 for juniors (under 18) and senior citizens. An individual can join for $2.00 a year or the whole family can join for $4.00 a year. That's a great bargain in these days!! So give us a try. We like to meet lots of new people, and together we can make the Warren Public Library a great place to be in our community.

KUDOS, KICKS & KARATS

A BIG THANK YOU

I want to extend a big THANK YOU to all who kept track of me during my hospital and rehab stay after my December 18 accident. Thank you for all the cards and letters, the words of encouragement, prayers, and Catherine's gooseberry pie! It has been a long haul and I still have a long way to go. But I know that with the continued support of my wonderful family and friends, and by the healing hand of the Lord above, I will continue to heal. Thanks to Mike and Stacey Haggerty for the ramp. It will certainly make things so much easier, as it may be another 3 to 6 months before I can walk without assistance. Also, a special Thank you to the kids from Three Amigas Childcare for the Welcome Home banner, it was a sweet touch.

Thanks again,
Glenna Long

LIBRARY THANKS

Thank you to Bernard and Sharon Gebhart for donating the flower pots for the front of the Warren Library. Aren't they beautiful? Another example of caring people in our "Small Town with a Big Heart."

THE UPTOWN GARDENER

by Ruth Herring

What a nice holiday weekend we had. It was a rather lazy time for me. Did get some flower beds attended to but much more to be done. The garden is coming along nicely and soon will have lettuce and radishes. I planted some long white radishes and like to make a sandwich from them, just butter the bread and slice the radishes long way add some nice fresh lettuce and this ole country bumpkin is happy.

Didn't get up to Andrews to the cemetery to put fresh things on the graves but usually wait until after the holiday. In years past things have been stolen from the graves, so I wait till later to put anything there. I know my Mom and Dad would understand. It is sad when someone is desperate they need to steel from graves.

On the brighter side a good friend Martha Richardson mentioned to me about writing about superstitions, wasn't to sure I could. But got my thinking cap on and thought I might give it a try. Being not particularly superstitious, I could see the fun side of things. One thing coming to mind was a black cat running in front of you. My theory is that the worst thing to happen is if I hit it, I just didn't want to get black fuzz all over my car.

My sister was a little more so superstitious especially if it got her out of work. Mom ask us girls to get a ladder and wash the upstairs windows, so getting the ladder set and necessary equipment, guess who got elected to go up the ladder, because she was terrified of heights. She was suppose to hold the ladder steady, but got bored and decided to shake the ladder a bit to aggravate me. In the process I dropped the cleaning rag and told her to get it and bring it up to me. No way was she going to walk under the ladder to pick up what I had dropped, not to mention bring it up to me. Suppose to be bad luck to walk under a ladder. Those are just a couple things that come to mind. By the way I did get the windows all washed but had someone else steady the ladder.

VAN BUREN COUNCIL

by Bonnie Lloyd
On Wednesday evening, May 21, the Van Buren Town Council met in the Council Room at Town Hall. President Tony Manry opened the meeting at 7 p.m. with all in attendance repeating the Pledge to the American Flag. Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as submitted. At the former meeting the local Fire Department had requested permission to hold a Tractor Pull during the Popcorn Festival. A decision was delayed in order for Council to check on insurance liabilities. At Wednesday's meeting it was decided that due to high cost of insurance they would not allow the Tractor Pull to be held on town owned property. Also it was believed the area was not a good place for the event.

President Manry presented Council members a copy of a Golf Cart Ordinance to study. A decision will be made at a later date.

Officer Pat Collins gave the Police report. He was asked to update the list of abandoned vehicles.

Superintendent Jim Webb reported on progress in cleaning and maintaining the North water tower.

He reported the Town Clean-up went well.

Webb had sent out more notices of property violations. Four have failed to comply. Citations are expected to be sent to them.

There are also seven or eight property owners not keeping their properties mowed.

The next Council meeting will be held June 4.

OFFICE CLOSED

The Van Buren Clerk-Treasurer's Office will be closed June 9-13 in order for Clerk-Treasurer Michelle Sexton to attend State Board of Accounts School.

BMV ONLINE

Indiana Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMV) Commissioner Ron Stiver recently announced more online and branch services for BMV customers in Northeast Indiana.

He also announced and demonstrated the new myBMV online portal, which allows customers to create a personalized myBMV online account and reduce the need to visit, mail or call the BMV for help. MyBMV also allows customers, for the first time, to receive a reminder from the BMV that their driver's licenses are about to expire, one of 10 new services added to the popular online license plate renewal option that has been available for many years. To date, more than 36,200 customers have opened a myBMV account, according to Stiver.

"To date, more than 695,000 satisfied Hoosiers have completed their registrations online this year, and in the process, saved over $3.4 million dollars through a $5 discount," said Stiver. "We are pleased to now expand our online offering to include 10 new BMV services that, together with registration renewals, account for over seven million BMV transactions annually. These new online services should further improve customer convenience and reduce branch visit times."

Customers who establish a secure myBMV account will have access to the following services:

- * Renewing registrations and receiving $5 discount.
- * Checking the status of a registration renewal.
- * Selecting and reserving a personalized license plate.

- * Viewing and purchasing official driving records.
- * Signing up for email registration (license plate) renewal reminders.
- * Signing up for email driver's license renewal reminders.

- * Viewing current title information and ordering duplicate titles.

In the coming months, customers will also be able to select a different license plate design and research requirements for driver's license reinstatement online. Although driver's license renewal is the most requested online service, and available in 25 other states, Indiana law currently prohibits this service. The BMV sought that authority in the last session of the General Assembly and plans to seek approval again in the 2009 legislative session.

In addition, more than 18,000 customers (on average) contact the BMV each week to inquire about a variety of issues ranging from checking the status of a title request or online license plate renewal to requesting a copy of a driving record or a duplicate title. With a myBMV account, many of these customers can receive the information or service they need in a fraction of the time it currently takes to process such a request.

Setting up a myBMV account to access online services takes only a few minutes and requires an Indiana driver's license or an identification card number and a Social Security number. For those transactions that require fees, the fees are the same as in a license branch (with the exception of online registration renewals) and can be paid online using VISA or MasterCard.

CLEARING THE CLUTTER

by The FlyLady, Marla Cilley
Many years ago I was blessed by the words of a dear friend. Her name is Rita Davenport. She had an infomercial on early morning television. I got up about 30 minutes before my family and I would turn on the television and listen to her 30 minute commercial. She grew up in Tennessee and her message was one of love. She sold her motivational tape series for what was an enormous amount of money for me. I don't quite remember how much it was but I saved up my money and purchased it for me. I got my money order and mailed it off to her.

The name of her tape series is It's Time for You! It was 13 tapes that couldn't wait to listen to. Each one helped me become who I am today. I listened to them over and over again until her words became my thoughts. I put them away several years ago and forgot about them. Then out of the blue I found them and put them in my tape player and started to listen to them once again. The words I had forgotten came back and I realized where my thoughts had been kindled from her words.

One of the stories Rita told was about her father. He would always stop to help a stranded motorist. Rita would complain that she was going to be late if he stopped. He would remind her that one day if she had trouble on the road a kind stranger would help her out because he had taken the time to help this person. He would say, "What goes around comes around!"

As our homes get in order we find that we are walking in an envelope of peace. This peace follows us and we pass it on to others. Isn't it amazing when we are no longer living in CHAOS that we can see, hear and feel the arms of God guiding us? When CHAOS reigns we are blind to the needs of others. We are surrounded by a fog and we are always so busy putting out the fires that our blindness has created. Once the fog has lifted and we are able to think the most wonderful things start to happen.

You never know when a simple act of kindness is going to change a life! A couple years ago I started working on a book I titled "What's Next". I wrote about a third of it and then I just stopped. I really didn't know where it was going but now it seems that I have found the place for it. I was telling about how I started to hear and feel God. Even as my clutter was surrounding me the fog in my head was clearing up and I was finally loving myself enough to listen to the God Breezes as they came my direction. This weekend I started writing again. It is all coming together nicely.

I don't believe that I would be who I am today if I had not began the process of replacing the negativity in my head with empowering words and following the God Breezes as I felt them. Our Yahoo mentoring group is close to 500,000 members. I am still in shock that so many people listen to what I have to say. We started our Yahoo Group in 1999 the first year 10,000 people joined us. Now we have about a couple of thousand new members join us each week. We are planning a big party in Dallas in October. I hope you can join us. More details later.

Who knows what is next for us. We just want to help you find peace in your life so that you can follow your God Breezes to become who you are supposed to be.

Sometimes Wayne and I want something sweet to snack on in the evening and he thinks I should give my recipe (which I really don't have one) for the fudge I make. I take 2 tablespoon peanut butter, 2 teaspoon butter and about 1/2 cup chocolate chips and microwave just till melted. Stir it up good and add some powdered sugar to make it thickened. It doesn't take much. Put it on a buttered plate and let cool and slice in squares.

This makes a nice creamy fudge and quick to make. Enjoy when the sweet tooth gets to you. Have a great summer.
