Thought for the Week: A good home must be made, not bought. Joyce Maynard

SIGN DEDICATION

The new sign at Knight Bergman Center has been dedicated to past board member Robert Pond.

Bob was a KBC board member for five years. He retired from the board but still helped clean, remove trash, mow the grounds and different things that needed done.

He also asked about starting a Preservation Fund and collected money for KBC. This sign was purchased out of the money collected and helped with Christmas lights.

Bob was a 1947 graduate of Warren High School, now the Knight Bergman Center.

Present for the dedication were Board members (l-r) Sharon Gebhart, Bonnie Boxell, Janice Ryan, Joyce Buzzard, Lu Ellyn Pond (Bob's wife) and Denny Stroud.

TOMATO DISEASES ARE LIKELY THIS SUMMER

Tomato plants should be watched closely this summer to learn what diseases and/or disorders might be affecting them. The extremely wet weather has been a factor in disease development earlier than in a normal growing season for many local growers.

Some types of tomato plants including the popular "heirloom" varieties do not carry resistance genes to fungal diseases. Other disorders in the tomato fruit such as blossom end rot are sometimes confused with fungal diseases.

Early blight, Septoria leaf spot, Verticillium wilt or Fusarium wilt are all common fungal diseases which may cause part of the plant to wilt while leaving the rest healthy-at least initially. Many modern tomato varieties may be resistant to these diseases. A good source (from Iowa State University Extension) for pictures and descriptions of tomato diseases/disorders can be found on-line at <https://store.extension.iastate.edu/Product/Tomato-Diseases-and-Disorders>.

If you believe that your tomatoes have a fungal disease, treating the plants with a fungicide can oftentimes slow its progress. Per Dan Egel, Purdue Extension plant pathologist, probably the best path is to go to a garden center and find something with the active ingredient chlorothalonil. Applications of this product every 7 to 14 days should slow the disease. He also recommends trimming off lower leaves and getting them well away from the production area to help slow the disease.

There are tomato diseases which have very devastating impacts. For example, in 2009 late blight affected several home gardeners in the area. This devastating fungal disease was found in Huntington County as well as other nearby counties. At the time of this writing, late blight has not been documented in Indiana for 2015.

Plant samples can also be dropped off at the Huntington County Extension Office if you need assistance in identifying the problem with your tomato plants. It is also possible (for a small fee) to send the plants to the Plant and Pest Diagnostic Lab on the Purdue West Lafayette campus to confirm what disease is present.

For more information, contact Ed Farris, Agriculture and Natural Resource Educator, Purdue Extension – Huntington County Office, 354 N Jefferson – Suite 202, Huntington by calling 260 358-4826.

THE UPTOWN GARDENER
 by Ruth Herring

This hot sticky weather means it is stay inside time so I figure no better time to do some closet and kitchen cupboards cleaning. It is better than just sitting in front of the tv and really becoming bored. Also have been working on a quilting project that is a volunteer project that is needing to be done before late fall. I do have a good start on it and has been a fun project.

I have been enjoying the green beans that are growing nicely in the flower bed also picked a nice yellow tomato, sure tasted good, still have enough of it left for a bacon tomato sandwich. I seen a neat thing on the food channel to make a bacon sandwich to cut pieces of bacon length desired and have 3 or 4 pieces laid straight and then same amount and weave them basket weave style and place them on a cookie sheet and bake them. It turned out a nice flat portion for a sandwich. Be great for a bacon tomato sandwich. Think I will try it.

I had a Stargazer lily in bloom and was really beautiful, they are one of my favorite flowers and a shame they don't last longer. This one had 4 blooms come out all at once and the blossoms were huge, the size of a dinner plate, couldn't believe how large they were and smelled so good. I took a picture and sent it to my sister in law in Texas and let her know it was definitely Texas size. The other plant, the blooms were not as large but definitely big. Must have been that good manure tea I put on them last fall. It sure didn't help some of the other plants that were water soaked and turned yellow. When I think of what the farmers have endured this growing season I am sure not going to grieve over a few flowers being lost to water standing in my yard.

Here is a recipe for chicken that I liked and was good warmed up later in microwave.

Called Orange Chinese Chicken
 2 pounds chicken breast cut in cubes or strips, in a pan 1 cup water, 1/4 cup orange juice, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 1/2 teaspoon Soy sauce, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1/2 teaspoon powdered garlic, 1/4 teaspoon red pepper flakes, cook on high heat till boiling reduce heat to simmer about 5 minutes. Let cool. Place chicken in a sealable bowl and pour over it about 3/4 cup of the sauce let set in refrigerator for 1-2 hours. Remove chicken and in a plastic bag add 1 cup flour and salt and pepper, place chicken in bag and coat with flour and brown lightly in skillet. Discard the sauce the chicken was in. With the remaining sauce add cornstarch enough to thicken it. Pour over the chicken and cook on low heat till tender and sauce thicken. May serve this over rice or noodles.

COUNCIL NOTES

The Van Buren Town Council met on Wednesday evening, July 15, in the Council Room at Town Hall. President Marvin Surber opened the meeting at 7 p.m. All in attendance repeated the Pledge to the American Flag.

There had recently been a considerable amount of vandalism on the southwest side of town. Items broken included flower pots.

Citizens concerned about cleaning up the town were in attendance at the meeting. They planned to clean up the park on Saturday.

An update was given on the Ordinance concerning properties.

Those concerned about the situation were pleased to learn that three letters have been sent. Failure of those receiving letters to comply will be taken to court.

A citizen in attendance was concerned that during cleaning of the water tower his yard had been damaged.

Officer Pat Collins gave the Police Report. He reported the vandalism situation.

Donnie Plummer gave the Utility report. He said a new employee Lance Gray has been hired to work at the water plant.

Street paving is set to begin next week.

The next Council meeting is to be August 5.

SCOUTS UPDATE

It's been a while since we sent in an update about the Boy Scouts. We have had a few things going on.

In May we spent a weekend at the Van Buren American Legion enjoying fishing and some swimming. We went to a Tin Caps game and spent the night in tents on the field.

In June there was another night spent at a Tin Caps game. The following morning we walked with all the Huntington county scouts in the Heritage Day parade.

This month we walked in the Warren Salamonie Festival parade. We then left for Camp Chief Little Turtle (Angola area) a couple of days later. As always we had some thunderstorms to deal with.

The boys worked on merit badges in Rifle, First Aid, Emergency Preparedness, Citizenship, Communications, Space Exploration and Wilderness Survival. We climbed the rock wall at night. We did the Flying Squirrel where each boy is hoisted up 30 feet in the air by other scouts. That's trust right there!

The next week we had one boy who spent another week at camp for National Youth Leadership Training. This program teaches boys leadership skills for building better scout troops. He encountered tornado warnings, thunderstorms, lots of rain, lots of mosquitos, a mock car crash and geocaching.

In August the boys will be in the Van Buren Popcorn Festival parade. Also they will be attending Aviation Merit Badge training where they learn all about airplanes and get to take a flight.

Next month starts our popcorn sales. Without the Warren support we wouldn't be able to send these boys to camp to build stronger, smarter, respectable young men. Please help support them if they make a stop at your house or business. Thanks again Warren community!!

POOL TOURNEY

There were 20 residents in the July 7th pool tourney. The winners were the husband & wife of Virginia and Larry Langdon. Larry finished game 3 with two out of this world shots, but claims he just played them that way!! Dick Hinton and Dick Lintner (the two left handed Dicks) came in second place. The in-house tournament

PRESERVATION GRANTS

Application packets for grants through the federal government's Historic Preservation Fund grant program are now available for fiscal year 2016 on the DNR Division of Historic Preservation & Archaeology (DHPA) website.

The website is dnr.IN.gov/historic. Click on the "Financial Aid" link under the "Help With Preserving" tab.

A change to the program for this year makes some historic religious properties eligible for preservation-grant assistance. Previously, historic buildings owned by religious organizations or used for religious purposes were not eligible to participate in the HPF program. To be eligible for the program, a historic religious property must already be listed in the National Register of Historic Places. Buildings can be listed in the National Register individually or as contributing resources within listed historic districts.

Religious institutions interested in applying are encouraged to contact the DHPA Grant Staff to confirm their eligibility.

The federal funds come from the National Park Service, which distributes the funds through state agencies. In Indiana, the funds are allotted through the DHPA.

The DHPA uses about half of its annual funds for a competitive matching-grant program to assist certain types of local historic preservation projects, including rehabilitation of historic buildings.

The DHPA's annual competitive grant program requires a dollar-for-dollar local match to grant funds. Applicants must have their matching funds available when they apply for a grant. Planning projects are eligible for grants up to $35,000. The maximum grant award for rehabilitation projects is $50,000.

Rehabilitation activities must meet federal preservation standards. Typical grant projects include roof and gutter repair or replacement, masonry rehabilitation, window repair, and other exterior measures to keep a building weather tight. General remodeling, construction of additions, landscaping, signage, and purchase of furniture or equipment are not eligible activities under this program.

There are three categories of projects: Architectural & Historical, Archaeological, and Acquisition & Development (rehabilitation). Applicants should download the appropriate application packet and read all instructions carefully.

The deadline by which all proposals must be received by the DHPA is Friday, Oct. 2, 2015, at 5 p.m.; it is not a postmark deadline.

For more information, contact Steve Kennedy at skennedy@dnr.IN.gov or (317) 232-6981; or Malia Vanaman at mvanaman@dnr.IN.gov or (317) 232-1648.

BUSINESSES OF WARREN

by George Langston
Businesses on N. Wayne Street as I remember during my school years, 1950's through 1962.

Businesses on the East side of the street, from North to South.

Dr. J.B. Bennett, E.J. Ellerman and Son, Rupright's Standard Service, Ben Franklin Store, Breedlove's Grocery, Myers Department Store, McFarren's 5 Cent to $1.00, The Gift Shop, and Gold Seal Drug Store. The Town Hall, Holmes Jewelry, Gambles Store, Post Office, Sanitary Market, Coolman's Cut Rate, Stucky's Hatchery, Kriegbaum Hardware, and Brown's Texaco.

Businesses on the West side of the street, from North to South

Dr. Donald Ping, Hethcote Service, Fluhner's Dry Cleaners, Williams Heating and Plumbing, Boughner's Grocery, Ditzler's Cafe, Warren Cigar Store, Minnich's Men's Wear, Wagon Wheel, Warren Theatre, and Exchange Bank. Shultz's Cafe, Locker, B&L Cafe, Warren Tribune, Harrold's Barber Shop, Gibb's Jewelry, Warren Service and Supply, Mac's Cafe, The Hat Shop, and Grogg's Funeral Home.

Some of the businesses closed, and others changed locations on N. Wayne Street during those years.

Warren had over one-hundred businesses throughout those years, which provided a living for many of the men and women of the community.

The following are some of my personal experiences.

Al Rupright, Rupright's Standard Service always had time to joke around with me.

I purchased my wife's wedding rings from Gibb's Jewelry, and Lawrence let me pay them off, a little every week.

PEARSON

Kathryn Jane Pearson left this world on July 18, 2015, in much the same way in which she entered it on July 18, 1928 - surrounded by love and family. It was her 87th birthday. Affectionately known as Jane, her timing was symbolic as she was a thoughtful woman who believed it was better to arrive one hour early than one minute late. That was a principle she successfully lived by, particularly while she and her husband, William "Bill", parented seven children. Sally, Sara, Alice, Bill, Jim, Phil and Scott grew up knowing the depth of their mother's love by the daily ways she expressed it: seven made-to-order breakfasts before school, pineapple haircuts given by her loving hands for the boys and home-sewn dresses with tedious scalloped hems for the girls.

Jane married the love of her life on New Year's Eve in 1954 during an era when Eisenhower was president and a stamp cost 3 cents. For 60 years, Jane shared a breakfast table and a full life with her husband whom she would send off at the door each morning before he walked to work at the factory with a kiss and an instruction to 'Be careful.'

Jane was known for her baked black raspberry pies with melt-in-your-mouth crusts and homemade noodles dusted with flour. Frozen fries were never served from her kitchen. The pan she used to make her own - a tradition on Saturday nights - is still nestled in a kitchen cupboard.

I Love Lucy shows made her laugh. Her children brought her joy. Jane loved having them close. Jane lived in Gas City her whole life and thought everyone else should, too. Jane was born in her hometown to the late Harry and Hazel (Stump) Young. A graduate of Gas City High School, Jane worked the main switchboard at Indiana Bell for a decade from 1946 to 1957. She was one of the few employees to persist through classes to learn to manage long distance calls, and she was proud of the accomplishment.

Jane learned to sew at age 16 and cultivated her talents into a life-long business. She sewed patches on officers' uniforms for the Gas City Police Department, hemmed hundreds of service veterans' pants from the Marion VA and gifted each of her children with homemade Raggedy Ann & Andy dolls.

Jane believed in 'green' before conserving resources became popular. "Waste not" was a life motto and she exercised her belief by washing out bread bags to be repurposed. Bargains and bingo were hobbies she enjoyed, and she was good at both.

Jane was a member of Eastview Wesleyan Church. Amazing Grace was a favorite hymn. It was grace that guided her through life and how sweet it was.

Jane is survived by her husband, William; her children, Sally (Dan) Leach, Gas City, Sara (Ray) Dalrymple, Omaha, NE, Alice (Mike) Shively, Marion, sons, William "Bill" Pearson and James Pearson, both of Gas City, Philip (Tammy) Pearson, Marion, and Scott (Christa) Pearson, Warren; sisters, Doris (Herman) Croy, Fort Wayne, and Evelyn Bledsoe, Gas City; 14 grandchildren; 10 great-grandchildren; and one great-great grandchild.

Preceding Jane in death are her brother, John L. Young; sister, Jessie June Young; and granddaughter, Kristin Myers.

Friends may call from 5 to 8 p.m. Wednesday, July 22, 2015, at Needham-Storey-Wampner Funeral Service, Storey Chapel, 400 E. Main St., Gas City.

Services will be at 12:30 p.m. on Thursday, July 23, 2015, with additional visitation one hour prior to the service. Pastor Mark Atkinson will officiate with burial to follow at Marion National Cemetery.

Memorials may be made, in Kathryn Jane Pearson's name, to Methodist Health Foundation, P.O. Box 7168, Indianapolis, IN 46207 designated to the Organ Transplant Fund.

When Kenny and Dorothy Van Zant, Van Zants LP Gas, and their son Larry went to the fireworks in Fort Wayne, I always went along with them. Larry and I spent a lot of time together.

After graduation, I bought my first car from Bill Eckman, Eckmans.

Ray Moore, Mechanic at Eckman's, helped me tow my car to the garage one cold Sunday morning in the winter, and fixed it for me.

I worked for Forest Pond each year during summer vacation. I gained valuable knowledge and experience from him.

Dorothy Coolman, Coolman's Cut Rate, made a cherry cobbler for me and sent it to work with her son Larry, for my birthday, as we both worked for Forest.

Ruskin and Lucy Laymon, Laymon Insurance. I spent a lot of time at their house as their son Steve and I spent a lot of time together.

My Grandmother, Bertha Pond and Mother, Lois Langston owned and operated B&L Cafe. My wife's grandmother Blanche Rittenhouse baked the pies for them.

We were very fortunate to have lived in a community that provided everything we needed, and to have a good relationship with each storeowner. Everyone knew each other on a first-name basis.

SW FFA CONVENTION RESULTS

Southern Wells FFA is the 2015 State FFA Chapter Meeting Team champion.

The Beginning Welding team also received the champion state award and $10,000 scholarships.

Third place was taken by the Agriculture Communications team and the Food Science Demonstration Team placed 4th.

The awards were announced during the award session of the 86th State FFA convention held June 18 at Purdue University.

This was the tenth state championship for the Chapter Meeting (Parliamentary Procedure Team). Prior firsts were in 1988, 1992, 1998, 2000, 2002, 2004, 2006, 2007 and 2010. The team is already preparing to represent the 190 FFA chapters in Indiana at the national contest during the 88th

National FFA Convention at Louisville, Kentucky in October.

Southern Wells made a clean sweep this year by winning the preliminary district and section contests. They were one of eight state finalists, two from each of the four FFA sections in Indiana.

The teams demonstrated their ability to conduct a meeting using Robert's Rules of Order. Members were orally quizzed on their knowledge and each member took a written test. The team test average was over 95%, a record high score.

Vince Drennen and David Schriver made their record breaking welds last April in the Beginner Division for 9th and 10 grade students. They were required to complete a variety of welds and take a written test. Ohio Tech in Cleveland, Ohio awarded each member of the team a $10,000 scholarship to attend upon graduation from high school.

Competing in the Agriculture Communications Career Development Event (CDE) were McKenna Eltzroth, Danielle Kratzer and Alisha Watters. Prior to the state event, they were challenged to prepare a written proposal for a media promotion to educate the public about the use of drones. At Purdue they orally presented their plan, prepared various media products and took tests on aspects of the communications industry.

Lori Pluimer and Sarah Jones demonstrated making ice cream for their Food Science demonstration. They explained the affects of substituting sugar and butter fat to a panel of judges and responded to their questions.

Competing but not placing in the Top Four were Zane Herr and Jackson Sills presenting an Animal Science demonstration, Ben Shaffer and Abe Herr doing a Natural Resource demonstration, Daniel Schriver in Agriculture Ambassador Interview, Jada Johnson in Freshman Extemporaneous Speaking and the Novice Chapter Meeting team. The freshman team was chaired by McKenna Eltzroth with members Alisha Watters, Danielle Kratzer, Jones, Johnson, Samantha Williams, Sarah Kline, Malinah Dixon and Russell Pluimer.

Six members were elevated to the Hoosier Degree, the highest that can be awarded by the state association. The degree is based on student records of out-of-school work experience hours and skills gained on the Supervised Agriculture Experience program for agriculture students. FFA activity and community service hours are

4 REASONS YOU ARE STILL DISORGANIZED

1. You are denying disorganization is effecting your life in a negative way
2. You are comparing your organizational skills to reality show hoarders
3. You are blaming your family for the mess you're in
4. You are minimizing the problem and the gifts you possess to solve them

In Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) it speaks of the four defenses an alcoholic uses while he/she continues to drink. In Get Your Act Together, I wrote how SHEs (Side-tracked Home Executives) use the same defenses to remain in a mess.

There is really no difference except for the outcome... drunk or disorderly.

Like an alcoholic, once a SHE stops using the four defenses, she is then able to change. Could one of these defenses be holding you back from the life you want to live? Denial

You probably don't deny you're in a mess, but I know when I was living in chaos, I acted like it didn't bother me. Haven't you heard the classic messy person's excuse for a messy desk say, "I know where everything is on my desk!" Yeah right! Denial!

I also remember a constant desire to get out of the house and go play. My three kids spent much of our time outside where I didn't have to face the mess in the house. While at the park it was easy to deny I had a problem, but I always had to come home to the truth.

Rationalization

If you find yourself making excuses by comparing yourself to someone you know who is more disorganized than you, it probably makes you feel better, but it won't help you change. Don't watch those reality shows featuring hoarders and extremely disorganized people. You are not like that. (If you are, my writing will not help you very much. The hoarders I've seen in my career helping SHEs have severe mental disorders and I'm not a psychiatrist so I have no business trying to help those people.

I think you just want to be organized just enough to have a neat, cozy, peaceful home to play in with your family.

Projection

Blame is a great defense. Blame the mess on the kids. Blame it on your husband. Blame it on your mom because she didn't teach you. Blame will give you years of status quo.

Minimization

I'm guilty of minimizing disorganization, but mainly because I've learned that most of us SHEs make such a big deal about it, we can afford a little of this defense as long as we seek to be organized just enough to please us.

On the same subject, we SHEs tend to minimize our talents and God-given gifts of creativity, and fun-loving spirits. I knew in the depths of my pigpen days that if I used my creativity, I could get organized and have enough money to hire a person to help with the housework.

If you've made the decision to get organized (I hope it's going to be just enough to please you) and you drop your defenses, take on the project with joy. Decide to have fun getting organized. Treat it like a hobby. Ask for help from BOs who come by it naturally. Don't allow anyone to cause you to doubt your ability to succeed. Get organized for selfish reasons...to be free to play, and enjoy the liberation of knowing you are on top of the game, not floundering somewhere underneath it.

MAKING A SUMMER ROAD TRIP MORE ENJOYABLE

from the American Counseling Association
It's summer vacation time, which for lots of us means piling in the family car and heading off, hopefully, for fun and adventure. Unfortunately, all too often that summer road trip can become a source of family stress and frustration. It doesn't have to be that way.

Yes, being locked in the back seat of a car for hours on end can be boring, but here are a few ideas to minimize the boredom.

A good starting point is to make sure that everyone is going to be well fed and hydrated during your road trip. A cooler full of drinks and a bag full of healthy snacks can help achieve that goal. And yes, make sure the snacks are healthy. Load the kids up on high-sugar drinks, candy and snacks and you're looking forward to a surge of sugar-fueled energy followed by a big post-sugar crash. Neither of these work well in the confines of a car.

It's also a good idea to plan for stops along the way, especially if you have younger children in the car. Those stops, whether to see an attraction or have a bite to eat (maybe a picnic in a roadside park?), can break up the trip for the kids and the adults as well.

Think about making the journey, not just the destination, a positive and enjoyable part of your trip. Before leaving, check out some tour books for places you might visit along the way. They don't always have to be large tourist attractions. Often the simpler things (an old historic farm, a small museum, somebody's giant ball of string) can be interesting experiences for a brief visit, will usually be crowd-free and give everyone a chance to stretch.

Today's technology can also help keep the car's occupants entertained. MP3 players, portable CD players, handheld games, portable DVD players... the list is long and with earbuds for everyone (including Mom or Dad in the front passenger seat) each can enjoy their own personal entertainment without disturbing anyone else.

Equipped with maps, tour books, snacks, electronics, art projects for young kids, books for older children and anything else that will fight boredom, you'll find that even a long road trip doesn't have to be stressful and frustrating. A little planning and preparation can make the journey as much fun as the final destination.
