Kudos, Kicks & Karats

This week we're going with current happenings. I hope everyone is keeping cool, it has definitely been hot. I hope it cools down for the 51st annual Salamonie Summer Festival. I for one am ready to get this show on the road. Tara, Kendra and I have been working on this since the Saturday of last years festival. You know there is no better time to start planning on next years festival than in the current. You can see what is needed what is not, what was fun and what needs to be fun and of course that is where we get our wild and crazy ideas, when we set there and think about what we could do to fill the spot. You can call us crazy but we like to think of it as being dedicated to make the Summer Festival a better one each year.

I have to brag a bit, but after the first running of the porcelain chariot races, we were the talk of the local air waves. News 15 just had to catch what we were doing and broadcast it throughout the area and WMEE was talking about it on the radio for several months after. Yea our 15 minutes of crazy fame but we loved it. Not everyone would like to be associated with the Town of Warren for racing toilets down the street, but little things like that put us on the map.

You know there is one person who encourages me to be the volunteer I am and I learned it from her that's my mom, Ruth Herring. She is the only one that can relate to all of our wild ideas. Even though she gives us the mom look on some of our ideas, (racing toilets??) she always wants to know how things are coming with our ideas. She of course has been a part of the Salamonie Summer Festival since the beginning. Whether it was just making a few bows for decoration on the stage, to making floats for the telephone company, to taking charge of the art show, judging the flower show, to putting together the quilt show at 83 years old, this woman never stops. She is as dedicated to the festival as anyone I know and she tells me she will do it for as long as she can. Well I too will probably follow in those footsteps too. I just hope I am capable of doing what she does at 83. She still says she can out run us in a foot race any day, and I do believe her!! Thanks mom for all you have done to make the Salamonie Summer Festival what it is today.

That's it for this week and I will continue with my younger years after this festival is over with, until then have a great 4th.

general contractor, on June 12th for discussion of possibly adding additional projects to be done in the area in conjunction with the main project.

In a discussion concerning a vacant house located at 312 W Eleventh, by consensus, Council requested that DCD be contacted to inspect to see if the house structure is intact.

Morrison reported that the 2020 Electric Service Contract had been executed with Wolverine Power of Cadillac, Michigan. The Town is currently supplied by Indiana and Michigan.

The Huntington County Department of Community withdrew Ordinance 2018-4 from consideration until a later date.

Buzzard moved, seconded by Stivers, to drop approval of a contract with LiquiVision Technology for cleaning and inspection of both water towers due to inconsistencies in the Contract which would result in excessive additional charges. The motion was approved unanimously. Following discussion, Stivers moved, seconded by Buzzard, to approve a quote from Pittsburg Tank for cleaning and inspection of both water towers in the amount of $4650 and approved additional work as necessary at the cost of $300 per hour and as approved by the Utility Manager. The motion was approved unanimously.

Mosquito spraying was set for Mondays and Thursdays, weather permitting.

A letter from was read from Metronet Permit Specialist requesting approval to attach fiber optics to ten Town owned electric poles from 900 S pass Eleventh Street to Heritage Pointe. A Contract and proposed route map were included. Poulson stated that another route might be more appropriate and other questions arose pertaining to responsibilities of the Town. It was determined that Greg Guerrettaz of Financial Solutions Group, the Town's consultant on electric and financial matters, be contacted to provide input.

Renewal information from Physicians Health Plan for employee benefit insurance reflected a sixteen (16%) increase in monthly premium cost, the most in the past four years. Reviewing the plan and not wanting to increase employee cost, Brown moved, seconded by Buzzard, to approve the renewal.

A community Christmas Tree has been planted at the new Chamber Park Site, a joint project of the Chamber and Town.

Morrison reported that the INDOT permit to close the Highways during the Salamonie Summer Festival had been received. Also, planning for the 2019 Municipal Budget is underway. Morrison reviewed the schedule to meet State requirements and said a draft budget would be ready in July.

Marshal Spitler submitted the monthly activity report.

Poulson, as Fire Chief, submitted the May Activity Report. Following discussion and Poulson's report that another department was no longer interested in purchase of the unit, by consensus, it was determined to sell the Tanker by sealed bid. The department will be washing the streets and sidewalks in the downtown on June 27th at 6:00 pm in preparation for the Festival.

Poulson, as Utility Manager, reported that Carson Bolinger had been hired as a seasonal employer.

Following discussion of the purchase of a used screen system for the Wastewater Plant, Council delayed action pending provision of additional information about costs of a new system, necessary costs to adapt the used screen, and benefit of the system. In addition, recently purchased pumps to upgrade the system are not to be installed until next week and could result in less need for the screens.

Following discussion regarding the damage to the smaller of the Bucket Trucks and finding that insurance money had been received in 2017 but the company contacted to do the repair had not acted, Buzzard moved, seconded by Brown, that Poulson solicit quotes from other companies for repair and that a truck be rented while repairs are being done. The motion was approved unanimously.

A recent power outage was determined to be the result of failure in a recently installed recloser system. The company will be on site during this week to inspect the unit. Repair work on the ball diamonds at Tower Park done had not been successful in containing water flowing onto the surface. Additional work is planned.

The next Regular Meeting of Council is July 9th. Offices and utilities will be closed July 4th.

The Accounts Payable Register was approved as submitted.

In general discussion it was reported that the individual notified to clear two lots leased from the Town by June 20th has been doing so but neither was cleared. Contact will be made to remind about the deadline.

WILLIAMS

Our beautiful Jacqueline "Jackie" Sue Williams, 80, entered into the precious arms of Jesus on June 17, 2018.

She was born January 7, 1938, in Mitchell, Indiana, to the late Richard and Margaret Dodson. After graduating from Royerton High School in 1956, she attended Ball State University where she earned a Secretarial Certificate. Jackie married the love of her life, David Williams, on June 12, 1960. The two recently celebrated 58 wonderful years of marriage. Among the many things David will miss, was her ability to see God working for good in all situations.

Her two children, eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren were the light of her life. Between ball games for the grandkids, after school activities, and caring for friends and strangers, Jackie was always serving others. Never drawing attention to herself, she tirelessly went about it with gentleness and joy. She would drop anything to help someone in need. Jackie was a servant in every respect, a giver, not a taker, and selfless in every situation. To have her in our lives made us all better people. There is great rejoicing in Heaven today, as one of the true saints has come home.

son, Jonathan (Tamra) Williams, Rancho Santa Fe, CA; sister, Sharon (Mike) Woodruff, Yorktown; eight grandchildren: Crystal (Kyle) Gingrich, Johnny Singer, Joshua Singer, April (Jon) Hirst, Jacob Singer, Sierra Singer, Justin Singer, Shauna Singer; six great-children: Kinsey, Cali, Gage, and Cassidy Gingrich, Hayden Singer, Logan Singer, and number seven on the way; as well as extended family, friends new and old, and the many others who affectionately called her grandma Jackie.

Friends and family may call between 9:30am and 11:30am on Friday, June 22, 2018, at Upland Community Church, 439 E. Berry St., Upland, Indiana 46989. The funeral service will follow at 11:30 a.m. with Pastor Mark Biehl officiating. The burial will follow at Matthews Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, contributions in memory of Jackie may be made to The Red Barn Youth Center for at risk children (she loved kids), 168 S. 2nd St., Upland, Indiana 46989, Rock Steady Boxing (amazing trainers and fellow boxers that encouraged and kept her strong) c/o Heritage Pointe of Warren, 801 N. Huntington Ave., Warren, Indiana 46792, or Jesus Film Project (spreading the gospel worldwide), PO Box 628222, Orlando, Florida 32862-8222.

Arrangements have been entrusted to Armes-Hunt Funeral Home and Cremation Services and Jones-Smith Chapel.

DON'T LET ALCOHOL GET THE BEST OF YOU

from the American Counseling Association
 Yes, you enjoy that glass of wine with dinner, or a cold beer on a hot summer afternoon. Is this a problem? In most cases the answer is no, but for a growing number of people consumption of alcohol doesn't stop with just a couple of beers. And that can be a problem.

According to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, more than 15 million Americans over the age of 18 are affected by alcohol use disorder, meaning they abuse or have a problem with alcohol. It's estimated that more than 88,000 men and women in this country die from alcohol-related issues, including liver disease and drunk-driving related accidents.

It can be difficult for someone to recognize he or she has an alcohol problem. The short term effect of drinking is a positive one, making us feel good. It can be hard to link these good feelings to the negative consequences which tend to occur later, are often subtle and may appear unrelated to our drinking.

Moderate social drinking is certainly a part of our culture, but when you take the time to check, you may find that your alcohol consumption is at the stage where it is causing problems.

- Have people close to you complained about your drinking?

- Have there be problems at work or at school related to your drinking?

- Have you lost friends because of your drinking,?

- Have you had drinking-related arguments with family or other loved ones?

Other warning signs of alcohol abuse can be more obvious. Have you had an auto accident after drinking, or a DUI arrest? Are there mornings when you can't remember the previous evening? Has drinking led to neglect of family, school or other obligations?

If any of the above has happened to you, it doesn't necessarily mean you're an alcoholic or a problem drinker, but does indicate the need for a professional evaluation. Many professional counselors specialize in assessing and treating possible drinking problems.

The most important thing is to take action. Studies report problem drinkers often wait as long as ten years before seeking help, and even then less than a quarter of them actively seek help.

Looking into your drinking behavior doesn't indicate you're weak or sick, but rather that you want to take control of a situation before it gets out of hand. A professional counselor can be a great resource.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW BEFORE FIRING UP THE GRILL

(StatePoint) Summer is officially here and with seven in 10 U.S. adults owning a grill or smoker, according to the Hearth, Patio & Barbecue Association, for many, that means it's time to cook up mouth-watering dishes and invite friends and family over for a barbeque.

But be careful. Grill fires are all too common. Before starting up the grill, make sure that you've taken the following precautions to keep the place you call home safe.

• Landlord Knows Best. If you're a renter, before you even consider grilling, check with your landlord to see if it's allowed.

Oftentimes apartments don't allow gas grills on balconies due to state fire codes. Even the 39 percent of renters living in single-family homes may be prevented from grilling if there are neighbors living close by or there isn't a patio or outdoor space. Know the rules. If you're not allowed to have a gas grill, consider alternatives like an electric grill or a community grill in a common area.

• Too Hot to Handle. Grill fires can start in a number of ways, including dirty grills, grilling too close to something that could catch fire and leaving the grill unattended. To prevent a fire, clean the grill after each use. Always keep it a safe distance from your building (at least 10 feet) and away from trees. Place the grill on a solid surface that can't burn, such as concrete or asphalt. And never walk away from the grill while cooking, as a spark or small flame can easily spread.

• Safety First. Keep safe by getting equipped with tools and knowledge. Use long-handled spatulas, wear flame-resistant mitts and never wear loose-fitting clothes near an open flame. If you're using a gas grill throughout summer, check it periodically for leaks. And keep baking soda or a small fire extinguisher nearby, since attempting to put out a fire with water will only cause the flames to flare up. Also, remind everyone of that life-saving rhyme "stop, drop and roll" to remember what to do if you catch on fire.

• Have the Right Insurance. As a homeowner or renter, even if you take precautions, accidents do happen, so make sure you're properly covered for the summer grilling season and beyond. According to Erie Insurance, a standard renters insurance policy can help cover you if you're responsible for causing injuries or damaging other people's property. No one wants to think about the worst-case scenario, especially when you're planning a fun barbeque, but being protected is a way to give your family peace of mind. Plus, you can't be too sure your neighbors are practicing safe grilling habits. Renters insurance can help protect you from costs resulting from their negligence, too.

This summer, kick back and enjoy your home's outdoor spaces. Just be sure any grilling you do is done safely.
