FLOAT HELP

Still looking for someone to help build a float for the Heritage Days Parade that represents the Warren High School Lighting Five. There were 15 high schools in Huntington County in the 50's. Let's make sure Warren High School is represented. Registration must be turned in to Huntington County Chamber by June 8th.

90 YEARS YOUNG

Merritt Korporal is turning 90 yrs old!!! He would love for you to stop by and celebrate with him on Sunday June 10th from 2pm-4pm at the Van Buren Legion Post 368 in town by the post office. No gifts please, cards appreciated.

FUNDRAISER

Southern wells Community Church would appreciate your support at East of Chicago. On June 19 from 5-8 we will be there ready to serve you. One dollar from each buffet order will go towards our missions trip in July. We will be traveling to West Virginia to help with needs in that area. Hope to see you there.

WEEKEND MARKET

Saturday morning at Daugherty's Produce stand will be the Weekly Farmer's Market from 9 to noon. Elizabeth will be there with pies and noodles. There will also be watermelon, cantaloupe and other vegetables.

SSF FORMS

The Salamonie Summer Festival 3 on 3 Basketball tournament, will be Saturday, June 30th, at the Knight-Bergman Center in Warren, IN. Registration forms are available at the Warren Pharmacy, 222 North Wayne Street, Warren (260) 375-2135. Parade Entry Forms, for the Salamonie Summer Festival Parade, which will be Friday June 29th, are available at the Warren Pharmacy, 222 North Wayne Street, Warren (260) 375-2135.

Both of these forms are also available in this week's issue of the Warren Weekly.

ART SHOW/WIND CHIMES

During the Salamonie Summer Festival, the Warren Creative Arts Outreach will be having their second annual Art Show and design contest! Like before, the art show is open for entries to the general public and the art can be made using any medium. Last year, we had a wonderful bird house contest that many businesses and members of the community participated in. This years contest will be Wind Chimes and prizes will be awarded to the ones with the most votes.

There will also be a FREE kids Art & Craft session on Saturday June 30th from 4-6pm. There will be several different art stations for the kids to create a separate craft to take home. New this year to the kids session will be a station with a face painter and balloon animals! You won't want to miss this!

For Art Show entries: Drop off is Wednesday June 27th: 4-7pm at the old Fire Station on 2nd Street.

Display of art work: Friday June 29th-Sunday July 1st

Art Show hours: Friday June 29th: Parade time-10pm; Sat June 30th: 11am-9pm; Sunday July 1st: 1-5pm

Artist Demonstration: Bruce Winters Painting: Saturday June 30th at 12pm; Sunday July 1st at 4pm

Wind Chime Contest Drop off chimes: Thursday June 28th Noon-6pm at the Old Fire Station on 2nd Street

Chimes will be on display during the Art Show and Summer Festival

Vote on your favorite chime Also be sure to "Like and Follow" our Facebook page at Warren Creative Arts Outreach and we look forward to seeing the wonderful art our town can create!

REUNION TIME

The 7th Swan Street Lincoln Grade School Reunion will be held for everyone who went to Lincoln School on Swan Street in Huntington.

Reunion will be held Saturday, July 14th, 2018 from 1-4 pm in the New Lincoln School Building, 2037 East Taylor St, Huntington. Bring pictures and any items you have to share from your years at Lincoln.

LITTLE FREE LIBRARY COMES TO WARREN

Little Free Library is a nonprofit organization that inspires a love of reading, builds community, and sparks creativity by fostering neighborhood book exchanges around the world.

The First Baptist Church of Warren, 727 N. Wayne Street, houses a Little Free Library at the edge of the playground between Matilda and Wayne Streets. The library was designed by Steve Park, constructed by Richard Adams and is sponsored by the Men's Fellowship Group of the church. The library contains books of all interests for all ages and is accessible 24/7. A Little Free Library is a "Take a book, return a book" free book exchange. Anyone may take a book or bring a book to share. If you take a book (or two) to share from the Library, you do not need to return that exact book. The Little Library book exchanges function on the honor system. Stop by anytime and browse through the selection of books as it is constantly changing. Benches are located nearby for your comfort. Come and visit us!

The Little Free Library nonprofit organization has been honored by the Library of Congress, the National Book Foundation, and the American Library Association, and Reader's Digest named them one of the "50 Surprising Things We Love about America."

Each year, nearly 10 million books are shared in Little Free Libraries around the world. To learn more, please visit littlefreelibrary.org.

Kudos, Kicks & Karats

TO THE GOOD PEOPLE OF WARREN,

I sincerely thank all of the friends, neighbors and care-givers of my mother, Lillian Gail Wamsley. She was truly blessed to live in a community of such love, grace and forgiveness. In appreciation, there will be an informal reception at the Warren United Church of Christ on Thursday evening, June 21st, at 7:00 pm. I hope to be able to meet and personally thank all of you who impacted Mom's life in the years I have been away. Please stop by, introduce yourself, and share a cup of coffee and a sweet treat. I look forward to seeing old friends and relatives and meeting those of you who came into Mom's life in later years. I hope you can join us.

Deanna (Wamsley) Colbert

THANK YOU

The family of Phillip Boxell, who passed away on May 23rd, wishes to thank all of those who have prayed, sent cards, or phone to say We're Thinking of You.

A very special thanks to Reverend Gerald Moreland for his countless visits to Phil for encouragement and prayer.

Warren is a Town of caring, loving people and to all of you I give my thanks.

Suzu Boxell

NOW, WHAT WAS IT I WANTED TO REMEMBER TO TELL YOU?

from the American Counseling Association

As we grow older most of us forget more often than we once did. Although memory loss is a natural part of the aging process, experts say it usually isn't problematic for most people until after age 70.

This doesn't mean that you might not be forgetful, even though 70 still may be a ways off. We all have memory lapses, regardless of our age. Even as teenagers we forgot things (cleaning our rooms! that English assignment!), but as we get older we notice more the frustrations that forgetting can bring.

Fortunately, if you find your memory really does seem weaker and more troublesome, there are steps you can take to combat the problem.

A health check is your starting point. Talk with your physician about all drugs you are taking (over the counter and prescription), and have your cholesterol and blood pressure checked. These things, as well as some diseases, have been linked to memory problems.

Researchers report smoking and heavy alcohol use can also affect memory. Harvard Medical School studies found that smokers perform much worse than non-smokers in memory and thinking skills tests.

We are going to have lunch, a delicious one. Please bring crock pot food. We will have plenty of plug-ins but no kitchen. Covered dishes will be good along with snacks and desserts. Please, no Alcoholic Beverages. Tea and water will be provided. We are going to purchase some Kentucky Fried Chicken. Table service will be provided.

We are using the internet, Warren Weekly and the Tab newspapers, also word of mouth to let people know about this Reunion. Spread the word.

P.S. The school will open at noon to set up and close to take down at 4 p.m. to clean up. If you can help clean up it would be great!

Thanks, Cheryl Warner and Karen Conwell. See ya! Questions: call Karen at 260.375.2173.

YQCA WORKSHOPS

A new 4-H requirement across Indiana this year is that all 4-H youth exhibiting Cattle, Goats, Poultry, Rabbits, Sheep, and Swine must be YQCA (Youth for the Quality Care of Animals) certified. 4-H members exhibiting Horses, Dogs, Cats, Llamas and alpacas are exempt.

Goals of having 4-H members complete the YQCA training includes:

* Youth will be more prepared to be ambassadors for animal agriculture in their role as youth livestock exhibitors.

* Animals from youth livestock programs are treated with utmost care.

* 4-H members are contributing to a safe, wholesome food supply.

4-H members can choose to attend one of the remaining in person workshops by completing the online registration for $3 (free coupons available at most Extension Offices) or completing the online workshop for $12. For registration and online training go to: yqca.org

For best results online, use Google Chrome from a desk or laptop computer. If you do not have access to internet, contact the Wells County Extension office at 824-6412, 8 AM – 4:30 PM.

YQCA workshops in the area include:

* June 11, 1:30 PM, Wells County Community Center, 4-H Park, Bluffton

* June 11, 6 PM, Delaware County Fairgrounds, Muncie

* June 12, 1 PM, Allen County Extension Office, IPFW Campus, Fort Wayne

* June 12, 4 PM, Allen County Extension Office, IPFW Campus, Fort Wayne

* June 18, 6 PM, Adams County 4-H Fairgrounds, Dining Hall, Monroe

* June 28, Randolph County Fairgrounds, Winchester

Register online at yqca.org before arriving at the Workshop location.

GOAT CLINIC

Wells County 4-H will host a 4-H Goat Showmanship Clinic on Saturday, June 16, 10 AM – 12 Noon at the Livestock Arena, 4-H Park, Bluffton.

Kelly Fry, a goat breeder and judge will lead sessions on clipping and fitting animals along with showmanship tips. Members may bring a goat, but it is not mandatory for attending.

Youth and interested adults from Wells and surrounding counties are invited to attend the free workshop. For more information, contact Jenny Collins, 260-820-0463.

MINI 4-H NIGHT

Wells County 4-H will host a special night for Mini 4-H members who just finished grades K – 2.

The event will be held Tuesday, June 19. Registration, 6:15 PM; Event. 6:30 – 8:45 PM at the Wells County Community Center, 4-H Park, Bluffton.

4-H Junior Leaders and adult volunteers will be leading sessions in Recreation, Fun Food, Animals, and Natural Resources.

Each youth participant will receive this year's 4-H Fair t-shirt with the theme "4-H is For All Seasons".

Registration cost for the event is $13, checks payable to: Purdue Extension – Wells County.

Registration forms are available online at www.extension.purdue.edu/wells or stop by the Wells County Extension Office located at the 4-H Park. Registration is needed by June 12. Late registration will be accepted but a t-shirt may not be available.

RANGE CLOSED

The J.E. Roush Lake Fish & Wildlife Area shooting range will close from June 11-24 for maintenance.

The maintenance will repair and reseal concrete baffles at the range. Staff also will clean drain grates in front of backstops, conduct trap/skeet machine maintenance, replace boards on supports, and service archery targets.

The range may reopen sooner if work is completed earlier than expected.

For more information, call 260-468-2165 or email bblicharz@dnr.IN.gov.

The shooting range is at 1002 E. Division Road, Huntington, 46750.

SERVSAFE RECERT

The Purdue Cooperative Extension Service from Adams and Wells counties will be offering a Retail Food RECERTIFICATION Class and Exam on Tuesday, June 12, 2018 in Huntington, IN. This is for food handlers who need a 4-hour Review class and Exam to obtain a Retail Food Certificate. The morning review begins promptly @ 8:00 AM and the Certification Exam will be administered at 1:00 pm.

Photo ID with signature is required to take the exam. The cost to take the exam only is $60.00. Pre-registration is required by June 5th in order to receive a textbook and avoid a $20.00 late fee. Walk-ins will not receive a textbook. English and Spanish exams are available per registration.

To register call 1-800-678-1957, or go to www.inrla.org. For more information call Nancy E. Manuel, HHS Extension Educator in Adams County, 260.724.5322. The class location is at Parkview Hospital (Lower Level), 2001 Stults St., Huntington, IN 46750.

Instructors:

Nancy Manuel, HHS Extension Educator, Adams County

Molly Hoag, HHS Extension Educator, Wells County

GARDENER FORUM

The Huntington County Master Gardeners will hold a public forum on Thursday June 7 at 7:00 p.m. in First Merchants Bank Heritage Hall at the Huntington Co. Fairgrounds. Laura Whiteleather will present on "Plants as Medicine".

Whiteleather previously was an interpretive naturalist with the Indiana Department of Natural Resources. She has researched plants used as medicine during the mid-1800s. In character, Whiteleather is a "granny doctor" – a woman who knows how to use plants to treat all kinds of illnesses and ailments.

Please RSVP by calling the Purdue Extension – Huntington County Office – 1340 South Jefferson St. at 260-358-4826.

WEATHER CHANGES

Preschool-age children and their adults are invited to Salamonie Preschool's "Weather Changes," June 27.

Preschoolers will learn about why weather changes throughout the year.

The class will be offered once, from 10 to 11:30 a.m., at Salamonie Interpretive Center in Lost Bridge West State Recreation Area, Andrews.

Each program is designed to enhance the preschooler's basic education, including learning letters, building a craft, social interaction and time outdoors, always with a nature-related theme.

The program fee is $2 per child. Advance registration is appreciated. Register by calling the Upper Wabash Interpretive Services at 260-468-2127.

For more information on other UWIS programs, see dnr.IN.gov/uwis or facebook.com/upperwabash, or call 260-468-2127.

Upper Wabash Interpretive Services (dnr.IN.gov/uwis) is at 3691 South New Holland Road, Andrews, 46702.

PARTICIPANTS NEEDED

The DNR is seeking people to participate in training on July 11 to become a coordinator for the Community Hunting Access Program (CHAP).

CHAP is an initiative through the DNR Division of Fish & Wildlife to increase hunting opportunities for deer in urban and suburban areas. Doing so can help alleviate human-deer conflicts. CHAP provides community partners with financial and technical assistance to administer hunting programs in their communities.

As part of the program, managed hunts are administered by a certified CHAP coordinator trained in hunting safety, deer biology and public relations. The community partner determines when and where managed hunts occur, what hunters can participate, and which certified CHAP coordinator they use or contract.

Training for people interested in becoming a certified CHAP coordinator will take place on July 11. Before attending training, those interested in becoming a CHAP coordinator must complete the following prerequisites:

- 1) Any state-sponsored Hunter Education certification.
- 2) Any DFW-Approved Firearms Instructor Training. Examples include: National Rifle Association (NRA) Firearm Instructor Training, Indiana Hunter Education Instructor Academy, 4-H Shooting Sports Instructor Certification, etc.

3) Any DFW-Approved Formal Deer Hunting Training. Examples include: NRA Hunter Clinic Instructor Program Certification, QDMA Deer Steward 1 Certification, etc.

4) Provide name and birthdate for routine DNR background check.

To sign up for coordinator training, or for questions regarding prerequisites, email south region urban biologist Megan Dillon at mdillon@dnr.IN.gov.

The community application deadline for 2018 CHAP funding and participation has passed (March 31, 2018). Communities interested in participating in 2019 should visit the CHAP webpage and contact their wildlife biologist.

For more information on CHAP, the grant application, and the current certified CHAP Coordinators list, see wildlife.IN.gov/9420.htm.

Contact information for wildlife biologist by county is at wildlife.IN.gov/2716.htm.

THIS IS FOR THE BIRDS

This spring I decided to feed the birds peanuts. I put a big pile of nuts on our deck and they sat there unnoticed for days! When I thought about it, I realized I hadn't seen the birds that love peanuts (the Steller's Jays) for quite a while and wondered if they'd been off on a winter vacation in Hawaii or something.

Then a couple of weeks ago we had the Craig's (our neighbors) over for lunch and my conversation with Shay went something like this:

Me in a rather confrontational tone (Shay knew I was playing with her), "Are you, by any chance, feeding MY birds?"

Shay, "Uh, which ones?"

Me, "The Steller's."

Shay, "Well, uh, yeah."

Me, "What are you feeding them?"

"Peanuts."

"What time?"

"About 8:00 in the morning."

"So that's where they are!

They're going over to your house and filling up on your nuts and they're not coming here. Do you call 'em?"

"Yeah, I whistle, do you?"

"No I can't whistle, but I use a shrill, very high-pitched voice and say, 'Come on birdies!'"

"Oh right, we've heard that, but we didn't know it was you."

Once I found out that my birds were eating at the Craig's at 8:00, I started screaming out the door at 7:00, so they'd get my nuts first. (So much for living in the peaceful countryside.) I admit I'm a bird hog! But a little competition among neighbors is fun.

Now, every morning, when I open the sliding glass door to our deck and call, within a minute (sometimes 30 seconds) I hear the high-pitched call of the Steller's. There's a family of them that live in the old-growth cedar trees. They're bright blue and shaped like cardinals with that pointy top notch. They love peanuts and I buy them in a 30-pound bag at the feed store in Woodland.

This morning a female came to have a peanut (it's usually just the males who've been coming to our deck) and she behaved like a typical woman shopping. She'd pick up a peanut and throw it down and pick up another one and toss it and re-pick up one that didn't make the cut the first time. She must have handled (or beaked) about four before she settled on one and flew off with it.

The males are just like a man shopping. They don't. They fly in pick up the nut and leave. I love these birds for so many reasons. For one thing they're so smart. I read that they can mimic the sound of other birds that are predators to some birds therefore scaring them away so the Steller's can get the seeds in bird feeders.

My call is meant just for the birds, but it seems others are listening. I've noticed lately there's a squirrel that's been responding to my 7:00 am revelry. I shouldn't be surprised that more than just the birds hear my call since the Craig's can hear me. I'm sure the squirrel doesn't think he's a bird as he seems very self-confident with his identity. I've wondered who's smarter, the birds or the squirrel. Just because the birds get there before the squirrel does could just mean flight is faster and climbing down a tree, running across the lawn and climbing up to the deck just takes longer. I don't mind feeding him, even though he makes a mess by leaving nuts shells on the deck where the birds fly off with the whole nut and make a mess somewhere else.

The trouble with wild animals is they won't go by my rules. They could care less that I have a weekly 3x5 card that says, "Clean Deck," or if I posted one out in my flower garden that says, "No Deer Allowed," or by my apple tree that says "Do not eat apples," or one on the west side of the house for the woodpecker that says, "Do not peck on house." Living in the country teaches us how far we can take our organizational systems and then we're just left to enjoy the show.

Enjoy your spring wherever you are!

3 AWESOME BACKYARD PARTY IDEAS

(StatePoint) Throwing a party and need an idea? With just a little planning, you can turn your ordinary backyard into anything you want it to be.

A Water Park

Who says you need a pool to cool off on hot days? Create a backyard water park with stations like Slip 'n' Slide, sprinklers, inflatable water play pools and water balloons. Serve guests popsicles, funnel cake, hotdogs and other waterpark treats. Be sure to have plenty of beach towels on hand and a designated area for those guests who'd prefer to stay dry.

A Movie Theater

Host a film night under the stars by moving your home theater outside. Create "stadium seating" by putting blankets towards the front of the viewing area, reclining chairs behind those, and then regular lawn chairs in the back. Decorate your backyard in theme with the movie you are screening and serve popcorn.

To get the real movie theater experience, use a high-quality projector, such as those from Casio, which combine a laser and LED light source to produce optimal visuals. Their Intelligent Light Control feature senses ambient light and automatically adjusts the projection brightness accordingly to ensure that no matter the time of day or lighting conditions, you'll have good visuals.

With these same ideas and just a few snack and decoration swaps, you can host your friends for any big televised event!

Summer Camp

Relive the camp experience with some friendly competition. Assign all your guests to teams and then start keeping score. A prominent score board with the current stats and some motivating music will keep guests on top of their game. Include classic feats of strength and coordination like tug-of-war and a three-legged race, but don't be afraid to branch out to include games that use the mind, such as trivia. Complete the day with an awards ceremony.

Take your backyard party to the next level. Pick a theme and go all out to create a fiesta your guests won't soon forget.

HOW NEW TECHNOLOGY IS IMPROVING

TREATMENT OF STROKES

(StatePoint) For patients experiencing ischemic stroke -- the leading cause of disability in the U.S., according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention -- the time it takes to receive treatment is critically important for avoiding irreversible brain damage. While getting evaluated by a specialist used to take up to several hours, new in-ambulance technology being tested by hospitals nationwide is helping patients get evaluated within minutes.

A new technology known as In-Transit Telestroke (ITTS) may transform the field of stroke treatment. With ITTS, stroke neurologists can examine patients by using video technology from ambulances, decreasing the time between a patient's onset of symptoms and crucial treatment.

"In the case of strokes, every moment counts, and thanks to ITTS, we're able to deliver treatment faster than ever before," says Gary Belt, M.D., stroke neurologist at Atlantic Health System's Overlook Medical Center in Summit, N.J., a not-for-profit multihospital system and the first in the country to implement ITTS technology.

Recent research highlights the benefits of this technology: patients evaluated with ITTS in ambulances while in-transit to the hospital can be treated with the brain saving drug alteplase 13 minutes faster than those patients not assessed until they are in the emergency department (referred to as door-to-needle, or DTN, time), according to a recent study by researchers at Overlook Medical Center and Atlantic Health System and published by the journal "Stroke."

The first-of-its-kind study assessed 89 presumptive stroke patients in ambulances over 15 months from January 2015 through March 2016. Atlantic Health System paramedics responding to neurological emergencies used an InTouch Xpress device -- a portable unit with a high-definition camera, microphone and screen -- allowing video communication with a stroke neurologist who performed a neurological evaluation of the patient while in-transit to the emergency department. Once the patients arrived at the participating hospital's emergency department, the neurologist assumed care and, when indicated, administered alteplase, a tissue plasminogen activator (TPA) that breaks down blood clots to restore blood flow to the brain.

"We are constantly looking for ways to treat stroke patients as quickly as possible, as each passing minute of lost blood supply translates to more brain damage," says John J. Halperin, M.D., senior study investigator and chair, department of neurosciences at Overlook Medical Center. "Our observations suggest that pre-hospital evaluation with telestroke may provide a scalable, affordable way to speed stroke treatment, as well as more rapidly direct patients to the centers capable of performing the procedures that will serve their needs best."

TOP TIPS FOR NEW, ON-THE-GO PARENTS

(StatePoint) Parenthood doesn't mean putting the brakes on your on-the-go lifestyle.

Whether taking an everyday adventure or traveling far, ensure smoother sailing for the whole family with these tips from Lauren Parry, a mom of two and creator of the blog, "Outfits & Outings."

For Shorter Trips

- Make diaper bag packing an art form: Remember being able to jet out the door with just your keys, phone and wallet? Life is a bit more complicated these days, even for short jaunts. The general rule is to pack one diaper for each hour you'll be in transit, plus extras in case of delays. In addition to wipes and diaper rash cream, it's also good to carry plastic bags for storing soiled clothing.

- Accessorize: "Before heading out, check the weather and gear up your stroller!" suggests Parry. "Sometimes, you'll be gone for hours or even the entire day, and you'll want to ensure you have everything you need, rain or shine."

Never underestimate the importance of a weather shield to block wind and rain or to add extra insulation on colder days. Fold it up and keep it in the basket of the stroller. A parent console is also useful. It adds extra storage and allows you to easily and instantly access go-to items.

For the Longer Haul

- Make sleeping arrangements: Going out of town? Save yourself the hassle of bringing certain baby gear -- like playards and high chairs -- that can be provided by a hotel. But don't make any assumptions about what's available. Call ahead to avoid surprises.

- Encourage comfort: Hotels can be loud due to street noise, the sounds of nearby guests and other disruptions. A soothing white noise machine can help, or replicate home comforts by selecting accommodations through a rental-by-owner site.

For Adventures Near & Far

- Get a chic ride: "Whether I'm running errands or on a family vacation, I can't stress enough how much the right stroller matters," says Parry, who recommends the Baby Jogger City Tour LUX because of its ultra-compact, lightweight frame and versatility.

Parry notes that her stroller of choice comes with five different riding options, a reversible seat and accepts an infant car seat or foldable pram to accommodate newborns. Parents can also make it a double stroller by attaching a glider board. Other useful features include a one-hand fold and a carry bag for transportation.

"One thing I quickly learned was that you have to be flexible when kids are in tow. This means you need a stroller that's adaptable to whatever your needs are at that particular moment," says Parry. "This stroller's features - including an easy-to-use hand brake, durable tires, and 3-panel canopy -- make it easy to stay on-the-go and keep my

BEAT-THE-HEAT TIPS FOR SUMMER

(StatePoint) Want to beat the heat this summer? Staying cool in hot weather can be easier with these top tips.

Bottom's Up
Staying hydrated is one of the most important things you can do to regulate your body temperature. While it certainly helps to carry a water bottle with you everywhere you go, you don't have to stick to plain water in order to quench your thirst. Summer is all about fresh fruit and vegetables like cucumber, watermelon, berries and pineapples. Add slices of these juicy summer favorites to a pitcher of water, or simply make a fruit salad or smoothie.

Eat Cool Foods

Want to keep both your home and yourself cooler? On the hottest days of summer, skip laboring over a hot stove or opening and closing a blazing oven. Instead, opt for light, cook-free meals. Gazpacho, creative salads, lettuce wraps, summer rolls, hummus and grape leaves are all great options for lunch and dinner, as are sweet or savory yogurt and cottage cheese parfaits for breakfast.

Take a Dip

Getting cool by spending time in and around water? Before hitting the pool, beach or lake, be sure your tech is designed to handle all your outdoor fun. To get equipped, consider rugged wearable timepieces, like the WSD-F20 Pro Trek Smart Outdoor Watch, which is 50-meter water-resistant and a good choice for all your summer water activities. Use the altimeter, barometer, and compass, along with a full-color map display, to explore lakes, rivers and ocean vistas.

Before you head out, download apps, such as MySwimPro for swimming, Glassy for surfing and Fishbrain for fishing, to enhance your summer sport activities.

Dress Right

On sweltering days, sweat less by selecting breathable, natural fibers for outfits and linens. Avoid polyester and other synthetics whenever possible. Loose, flowing garments are ideal choices for beating both heat and humidity.

This summer, stay cool with the right gear and habits.

Staying physically and mentally active can also combat memory loss. When you exercise regularly you're increasing blood flow for better brain health and function. Studies have found that 30 minutes of aerobic exercise, like walking or jogging five times a week, may even reverse some memory issues.

There's also some evidence that an active brain performs better. A full social life, interacting with family and friends, is one way. Anything that challenges your brain, from puzzles to playing games to reading and writing, also appears to stimulate brain cells and their connections.

A healthy diet, rich in fruits and vegetables, but low in saturated fat and cholesterol, may also benefit brain health. And yes, fish really may be brain food, especially when it's fish rich in omega-3 fatty acids like salmon and tuna.

Occasional forgetfulness isn't a reason to worry. Simply writing down things you want to remember can reduce memory frustration, but do pay attention if your memory issues are more severe.

If you forget things much more frequently, have difficulty learning new tasks, repeat phrases or stories in the same conversation, or forget how to do things you've done many times before, there may be a more serious problem. Talk with your doctor or professional counselor for an evaluation.

ACADEMY GRADUATES

Huntington County Leadership Academy congratulates 17 graduates from the 2018 Purdue Extension Community Leadership class. The group has been meeting since January to develop and strengthen leadership skills and learn more about Huntington County. Participants were able to participate in tours of and learn more about the following local businesses and organizations: Our Sunday Visitor, Bendix, HCUED, Huntington County Jail and Courthouse, Huntington City Mayor's chambers, Victory Noll Center, Huntington City Public Library, Pathfinder Services and Purdue Extension. The group heard from panels of local experts on topics of diversity, community health, economic development, building an employable workforce, and education. They also had opportunities to learn about volunteering in the community, building personal leadership skills in conflict management and communication as well as how county government works. Five projects were developed by participants including trail maintenance, volunteer recruiting, after school homework help at Riverview Middle School, building a database of vacant commercial properties and reviving a networking opportunity for local pastors. For more information on any of these projects, please contact Karen Hinshaw at Purdue Extension Huntington County at kdhinsha@purdue.edu.

The Huntington County Leadership Academy Board is accepting applications for the 2019 class. Applications are due by October 31, 2018 for the series that begins in January 2019 and can be obtained by emailing info@huntingtoncountyleadership.org. Current sponsors for the 2019 class include, Huntington County Adult Leadership Board, Purdue Extension, Bendix, Our Sunday Visitor, Pathfinder Services and First Federal Savings Bank. If your business would like to provide a space to meet with a tour, lunch for the group or a scholarship for a participant to attend, please contact the board at info@huntingtoncountyleadership.org.
